quaerere (to seek) is the etymology of question, and seek one shall.

‘Story of a question’ was an intervention project with students of Grade V to VII in CBSE and municipal school(s) in Pune (2015). The intent was to understand how conceptual gaps are formed in lower secondary/middle school students. This project allowed the facilitator(s) to invoke, observe and aid the process of inquiry of a learner. Over the academic year(s), significant improvement was noticed in their ability to communicate, question and problem solve. Insight from this experience is relevant to the proposed project - Sawaliram that intends to investigate into ‘Curiosity and questioning in school students’.
